

ARTIST EXPEDITION – CALL FOR PROJECTS

Sound Development City is a three-week expedition to two annually changing cities for artists from all disciplines and from around the world. It's a laboratory for the exploration of creative strategies, bold visions and forms of expression.

A dozen selected artists working on individual projects are part of the expedition team. The fifth artist expedition takes place in Madrid, Casablanca and in-between from September 6–25, 2016.

Sound Development City is looking for independent and dedicated project proposals that are to be tested and put into practice during the three-week expedition.

APPLY NOW!

The Sound Development City call is open for artists

- working in all disciplines and in any media – alone or in teams of two.
- from around the world and of all ages.

We welcome artists to apply who distinguish themselves through a process-oriented approach to their work, through curiosity and an explorative mindset.

Sound Development City seeks for projects, concepts and work theses which

- are research-based, challenging and willing to take a risk.
- benefit from being on the road.
- probe urban environments as sites of both playfulness and social involvement.

There is no thematic focus. The submissions can, but must not have anything to do with sound.
